1. In your survey of this road you will particularly describe the point of commencement, with reference to some monument record, which will be generally found to consist of corners in the public and private surveys; the exact course and distance from some one of which you must give in your field notes.
2. The point at which you terminate your survey must be ascertained and returned by reference to the same evidence as is herein required for the commencing point.
3. All letters and figures inscribed upon wood, must be cut with a "hunking iron," similar to that used in the Government survey of lands.
4. Where bearing trees are taken, (and it is strongly enjoined that they be taken,) they should without fail be taken, a smooth face fronting the angle of the road, should be made as near the ground as practicable, and in this face should be cut the initial letters of the pointed beginning and ending of the road. For example:—a road from Delhi to Colony—D. & C. R. When bearing trees cannot be had at angles, it is recommended the bearing and ending of both upon the side which the line strikes, and that upon which it leaves such trees. A large mound of earth should be raised at the point of the angle.
5. Marks in timber will consist of a snitch "blaze," with a notch in the centre, except the trees with the line cuts, each of which must have three notches.
6. After completing your survey of this road, you must carefully protect the same upon paper, with a view to the detection of all errors, either in your chaining or computing.
7. These instructions in no way relieve you from each and every duty prescribed by the laws of Iowa Revision of 1860, pages 134 and 135.
8. All your assistants are required to be sworn by some person authorized to administer oaths.
